

Developmental Red Flags – When to Refer?

At all ages consider:

- Head circumference > 98 or < 0.4 centile
- Rapid change in OFC
- Regression
- No red reflex (urgent referral)
- Squint
- Parental concern
- Reduced or increased tone

If Red Flags discuss or refer with Community Paediatrics :

See Further Assistance sheet attached

Top tips:

- ❖ Speech and language development is the most variable domain and is sensitive to environmental factors e.g. maternal depression
- ❖ If there is delay in more than one domain – gross motor, fine motor, vision, speech and language or social development – it is more likely to be significant.
